NEOSTAR 'ROAD-WATCH' HIGH DEFINITION DRIVING RECORDER

• Your personal driving 'witness' – protects your no claims bonus

If you've ever been in a road traffic accident, you'll know how upsetting it can be – the last thing on your mind is to appeal for a witness to help. The Neostar Road-Watch driving recorder is the perfect witness!

In just seconds, fit to your windscreen/dash with the powerful suction cup, turn on your engine and Road-Watch starts filming the road ahead of you in up to 10 min recorded loops – all in crystal clear high definition. If you have an accident, simply stop recording and you have your footage! Powered by long life lithium ion rechargeable battery (full charge gives 3 hrs recording) or by 12v cigar socket (lead supplied).

Time and date are added to your recordings and the built-in 2.5" LCD screen allows you to replay your journey on the spot. Sound is recorded too, plus a stills camera option for recording HD images. It records to standard SD memory cards which are available separately: 4GB SD card (1hr looped recording) for £12.95; £19.95 for an 8GB SD card (2 hrs recording).

Driving at night? Road-Watch features high quality infra-red night vision – so you're protected day or night.

What do your hands say about you?

From horoscopes to reading our palms, there are many ways to analyse our character. But looking at your hands can reveal a lot about you. Here, hand and fingerprint analyst Helen Elizabeth Evans reveals what celebrities' fingers and palms say about them.

What can our hands tell us?

"They can tell us several things, from our personality to what's going on in our lives" says Helen. "The more obvious characteristics in our hands don't change but the finer lines, the colour, how we hold our fingers can all change depending on our feelings, health and how we are using our energy. The lines on your right hand represent your public personality and the other your private life."

Can our hands tell the future?

"Yes," says Helen. "Our hands map out our personalities and tell us what choices we are likely to make based on our character - what drives us and what we want."

What hand type are you?

- People with wide, square palms are more likely to be fixed in nature, loyal and black or white. They tend to struggle with expressing their emotions.
- Those with irregular or rounder-shaped palms and short fingers are fiery, extrovert and need to be centre of attention. They tend to be action takers who get everyone started.
- Those with tall, rectangular palms and long fingers need to rationalise, understand and analyse. Sometimes they can be aloof and critical.
- Those with narrow palms and long fingers are sensitive and emotional, receptive and caring. They may also be quite artistic.

Duchess of Cambridge The Worrier

"Holding her two middle fingers closer than the others shows Kate's concern about the outcome of her actions. The fact that her ring finger leans quite closely into her middle finger shows she has concerns about what others think about her.

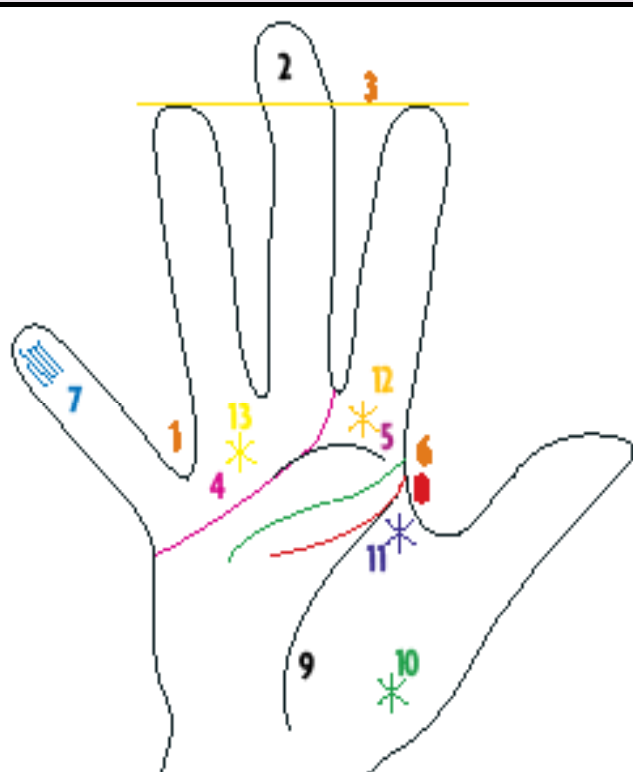

"Her middle finger curves quite obviously at the top towards her ring finger, showing she may feel isolated from reality.

"Holding her thumbs closely to the rest of her hand indicates she is not currently comfortable with the responsibility in her life. But it's so new she hasn't found her role yet."

Read between the lines..

1. A little finger held apart means you have trust issues.
2. A bent top finger means you're a moral person who is concerned with doing the right thing.
3. A longer index means respect is a big motivator. A longer ring finger means you seek applause.
4. A strong heart line reveals a person who needs to get involved with things that energise them.
5. A line forking from the heart line shows you're a person who finds it tricky to say no.
6. A head line separate from the life line indicates that you're an independent thinker.
7. Lines of genius show you're a gifted speaker and communicator.
8. A head line that tangles with the life line shows a traditional thinker.
9. The clearer your life line the more stamina you have.
10. Venus star means a gift for finding the fun in life.
11. A Mars star means you face fears and deal with them.
12. A Jupiter star indicates someone who's a gifted leader.
13. Apollo star indicates a performer.
